Highlights:

- Grate flips out of the way to allow fuel to be added
- Set at an average height for most barbecue items

With 300 square inches to cook on, the 632 Rotating Grill is the perfect addition to campgrounds, parks, beaches and other picnic areas. It features a high-temp black powder-coated firebox with a durable and thoughtfully placed cantilever cooking grate. The grate is simple to move back and forth with the added benefit that it is already placed at a good height. The high sides will protect food from dirt that may be blown around on a windy day while protecting the flames necessary to cook. Assembly is easy; all that is needed are a wrench, socket wrench, tape measure, and level. It is recommended to use this grill in conjunction with a 3.5-inch post that offers an in-ground mount for safety and security. This will eliminate the risk of the grill falling over while in use.
