Outdoor physical activity has many important health benefits for young children. That's why they need access to playground areas that have fun and engaging activities like those that are featured on this Little Tikes climber. The Clever Climber All In by Little Tikes is an interactive, exciting play system for children ages two to five years old. When placed in areas such as a school yard, a park, or even on church property, this Little Tikes commercial playground piece creates an appealing place where kids can safely play with their friends while getting the physical activity that they need to combat childhood obesity and other problems that may arise from too little exercise.

The Little Tikes climber and slide features a galaxy roof that shades part of the system, effectively protecting little ones from the sun while they play. When you purchase a Little Tikes climber, kids will get a wealth of fun features that will leave them happy and exhausted. This amazing piece of playtime equipment includes a dinosaur egg spinner and a dino life cycle panel that helps kids learn about dinosaurs. It also includes features such as panda bamboo relief, a turtle cove crawl-through with marine life, a penguin panel, and a mama and baby panda panel to teach children about animals. Two activity shelves, a construction panel, and a driving station with a steering wheel are other features that kids will enjoy. [\[Read More\]](#)
