The Easy Rider Pony has a bright yellow coat that resembles a horse on a merry-go-round carnival ride. It is the perfect size for preschool aged children, and has hand holds and foot rests placed specifically to accommodate young riders. The Pony is mounted on a durable steel spring which grants a considerable range of movement in every direction while still being strong enough to resist any permanent bending. The spring is firmly mounted in-ground with concrete, but if you don't want the pony to be stationary a portable mount, which the spring can instead be attached to, is also sold separately. The aluminum body of the Pony is molded from aluminum with a detailed mane, tail and facial features.
