In a child's eyes, there is really nothing quite as exciting as playing dress up. Having the ability to transform into another person, superhero or animal simply by putting on a costume and a few accessories is magical. As much as they love to participate in this imaginative act, costumes and other items can become a cluttered mess quickly. The Value Line Dress-Up Cart offers the simple solution! It is just their size, so they can place small items on the shelf where they can easily be accessed, and three two-way hooks underneath hold costumes and coats. There is even an acrylic mirror on the side. The entire cart is easy to clean and resistant to scratches and stains so it will look great for a long time. The Value Line Dress-Up Cart is made in the USA so you can feel good about supporting American workers, and it comes with everything you need for assembly including tools and hardware.
