The Tot Town Small Sandbox with Seats is a great way to bring sand activities to any playground. Kids can exercise their creativity as they build whatever kind of sand castle they can imagine. They can even work together to build even more inspiring creations. What really makes this particular model stand out is its pair of seats, which give kids an elevated place to sit while they work. This way, they do not get sand all over their pants, which will follow them inside. The walls of the sandbox are made from polyethylene, which is much more leather resistant and long-lasting than ordinary wood. Thanks to its size of 4 square feet, it is an especially good option for younger children, or for playgrounds that need to conserve space. However, the 11-inch walls of the sandbox allow it to hold plenty of sand with fewer spills.
