Anytime children can learn while they play is always great because, most of the time, kids don't realize they are learning! This 3 Panel Weather Station is an example of one of those times. Each of the three panels features a unique way to learn about the weather. One panel features three spinners which allows children to spin the pieces to dress a cartoon frog for the weather. A second panel features a matching game. The third panel features information on the four seasons, complete with a thermometer. The 3 Panel Weather Station is a colorful unit, that will draw children in to explore.
