Kids will spin to their heart's content on the Free Play Sit-N-Spin. The wavy edges that mimic the appearance of petals on a flower have several purposes. Besides looking cool, the indentations provide leg rests for a child to fit securely in the petal while their bottom is lower than their knees, ensuring that they stay in the flower. They also function as a grip for other children or adult caretakers to hold onto as they spin the sitting occupant. Children big and small will enjoy the thrill as they whirl just fast enough to be exciting without the ride ever becoming scary. This makes the Free Play Sit-N-Spin perfect for even the youngest riders. Requiring two people to work together as rider and spinner, the Free Play Sit-N-Spin encourages socialization, teamwork, and sharing. Both the rotationally molded plastic flower and its powder coat painted steel base come in a variety of dazzling hues, including custom options.
