SportsPlay's Super Goal with Steel Chain Net is one of the sturdiest basketball hoops around. By replacing the typical nylon net with a metal chain, there is no risk of it getting stained, dirty, or ripped. It requires no maintenance, and will most likely never need to be replaced. Additionally, the chains jingle whenever a player scores, which is one of the few sounds even more satisfying than the swoosh of a basic basketball net. The 'Super' goal features the same 18" diameter hoop found on official basketball hoops, but with an additional 5/8" thick ring welded onto the bottom of it for reinforcement. The lower ring has a special shape that fits the chain net, rather than hooks for attaching a nylon net. The added thickness of the hoop makes it much stronger, enabling players to be rougher and even dunk on it without fear of it breaking. It also has a mounting bracket for simple installation on any backboard.
