The UltraLeisure Square Portable Table by Webcoat is available with either three or four attached seats to provide seating based on your needs. Each table is constructed of expanded metal and features rolled edges for visual appeal and added protection against bumps. The portable table uses a 1-5/8-inch metal frame to keep it light and mobile while also providing a durable and strong foundation. However, if you would like to position the table in place you can buy an in-ground or surface mount to attach it to the ground (sold separately). The frame of the structure is powder-coated to enhance durability while the seats and tabletop are covered with a thermoplastic coating to protect against damage and provide UV protection. The thermoplastic helps to ensure exceptional protection against chipping, cracking, fading, and rusting even after repeated exposure to the elements. The tabletop features a hole for an optional patio umbrella to provide shade if needed.
