SportsPlay Replacement Basketball Backboard

At AAA State of Play, we understand the importance of providing our customers with affordable and top-quality replacement basketball backboards. Each SportsPlay replacement basketball backboard we sell is affordable and made from high-quality, commercial-grade materials. Backboards can wear out over time, and just about any basketball system set up at a school or playground can be subject to vandalism, which is why we have designed our backboards to withstand these challenges.

When you choose our aluminum backboard option, you not only get a high-quality product at a low price, but you also receive the added benefit of a comprehensive warranty. Our warranty includes a lifetime guarantee for the backboard, ensuring that you can enjoy your basketball system for years to come. In the event that your backboard gets damaged under normal usage conditions, simply return it and we'll provide you with a brand new replacement board. Please note that this warranty does not cover painted targets, as they are not included in the price.

No matter which material you choose, we can help you find the best basketball backboard for your needs. Unlike on the courts of the NCAA or NBA, where you'll often find tempered glass backboards, for outdoor play areas, an acrylic backboard replacement is a common choice. However, our replacement basketball backboards also come in aluminum, polyethylene, and steel. Prices range from $341 for our fan-shaped backboards to $1,192 for acrylic rectangle backboards.
