The Perforated Octagon Portable Table by Webcoat is a multi-purpose commercial-grade outdoor table fabricated from tough stainless steel and finished with powder coat paint on the frame and a durable layer of textured polyethylene coating on the seats and tabletop. The metal tubing framework is strong enough to handle habitual use by occupants of all shapes and sizes. This highly durable table features four attached backless seats and is capable of being moved around to suit the needs of changing environments. The rugged and high-quality finishes look great and can stand up to the elements. With the ability to adjust the colors of both the frame and the table and bench surfaces, you'll easily be able to get an ideal seating solution that will match your existing dining or recreation space. Please call or email AAA State of Play to learn more and discuss color availability. The Perforated Octagon Portable Table can be made stationary by adding surface mounts (sold separately).
