Ample seating isn't the only positive aspect that the Innovated Rectangular Portable Table by Webcoat will bring to your outdoor area. The series of small $\frac{5}{8}$ -inch perforations on the tabletop and seat surfaces make it easy to clean and maintain the furniture, as rainwater or liquid spills will seep right through the holes and cause the unit to dry more quickly. Available in a variety of lengths, this commercial-grade unit is built of resilient metal whose tabletop and seats are then coated with a durable layer of textured polyethylene. This application is UV resistant and will hide scratches to keep the table looking great for years to come. The powder coat finishing on the frame is similarly tough and long-lasting. All seats are attached to the frame and made from the same durable metal as the table to prevent sagging, buckling, and separating. Although designed to be portable, the table features pre-drilled holes in the legs for later surface mounting (surface mounting hardware not included). The Innovated Rectangular Portable Table is available in a range of colors. Just contact AAA State of Play to learn more about which are currently options and discuss scheduling. You can also choose your own unique colors for the frame powder coating as well, which allows you to come up with nearly endless combinations to suit your area's decor.
