The Classic Wingline Style Bench by Webcoat incorporates ribbed seats with contoured backs and seats to create a comfortable, stylish seating area that everyone will enjoy. With armrests on either side, the bench has an additional quaint and relaxing look to it. For a bench to be worth the investment it must be able to withstand constant everyday use. That's why the Classic Wingline Style Bench is so sturdily designed with its cast aluminum frame and metal tabletop and seats. The heavy-duty steel frame is powder-coated in one of our numerous colors (all your choice), which prevents rust, corrosion, chips, and peeling. Together, these features work together to ensure you can be confident you are purchasing park benches that will look like new year after year. The Wingline is available in both six and four-foot lengths. Both sizes come in the choice of portable, surface, and in-ground mounting.
