Highlights:

- Strong and long-lasting construction
- Versatile and can be placed in a variety of areas
- Beautiful color finishes you can customize
- Curved bench that is comfortable for long sitting

This Standard Wingline Style Park Bench by Webcoat features contoured seating made out of nine-gauge expanded steel for a durable, yet comfortable seating arrangement. The bench is available in both four and six-foot lengths, providing you with versatility in all your seating needs. The seat and back are covered in a textured polyethylene, which provides unprecedented color coordinating and design options for your outdoor areas. The process creates a highly durable coat that can stand up to even the harshest weather conditions without rusting or corroding. It prevents drips, is anti-fungal, and protects the metal from UV damage. Polyethylene creates a matte finish rather than high gloss. The 2 3/8-inch frame is powder-coated metal, adding to the durability of the bench. You can also choose whether you require in-ground mounting, surface mounting, or a portable option to ensure you can install your benches wherever you desire.
