Webcoat's Regal Octagon Web Table features an innovative design that promotes easy seating access atop resilient metal framework. The octagonal shape of the tabletop uses shortened corners to minimize the likelihood of injury from running into the edge. A robust 4-inch center post and 2-3/8-inch arms support the table and seats for a sturdy foundation. The expanded metal framework of the tabletop and seats enhance airflow to cool guests and speeds up the drying process after heavy rainfall. The tabletop features a convenient umbrella port for those who want to add some shade to their recreational area. The frame is painted in a durable powder-coat while the tabletop and seats are covered in a textured polyethylene to provide a protective finish. If you are interested in colors other than what is shown on the unit here, please contact AAA State of Play to learn of alternate choices. This table is purchasable in either a three or four-seat version to meet your seating demands. You may choose a combined portable/surface mount for a versatile, mobile table or choose an in-ground mount to securely position it in place.
