Add a twist to your indoor, outdoor or transitional space with the 9-foot Deck Height Spiral Tube Slide - Slide and Supports Only. This slide is ready to fit wherever it's needed in your design concept. The curled design has a two-prong purpose: adding a bit of fun to your ride down and reducing the amount of space needed for it. All of the hardware and parts are commercial grade with the body of the slide being rotationally molded plastic. The bulk of the structure is supported by galvanized steel posts in three places. Since the piece is commercial grade, it meets all of the ASTM standards necessary and exceeds the requirements for residential playground equipment for those that want to use it privately. When ordering, take the time to peruse our large number of plastic and powder coat paint colors to come up with the right combination for your project. And if you'd like a window for the duration of the ride, just choose our clear plastic for your slide.
