The Peaks of Vermont playground is suitable for kids aged 2-12, and it offers an impressive range of features all meant to inspire creativity, interactive play, and countless hours of fun. With a castle roof on the tower, kids will already be spinning marvelous tales even as they make their way to the playground. A curved slide and a standard slide are good accompaniments to a bedrock climber, but there is also a tree climber too. Several pipe walls increase the challenges of climbing, for older kids, and little ones will love the "café" space tucked beneath the standard slide. With so much to do, this recycled playground has a capacity of 26-30 and is has a use zone of 36'x30'. Available in standard recycled plastic colors, it will provide a great spot for exercise and imagination for years to come. The 15-year warranty on many of the components, and the lifetime warranty on the posts also ensure that it will provide years of service.
