A stepped design encourages kids to really explore the Casita recycled playground. Designed for kids aged 2-12, this surprisingly feature-rich play space features two ribbed roof towers, three slides, a bedrock climber, pipe wall, and several panels that allow kids to enjoy a bit of educational fun too. With an ADA transfer station and a fun ADA driving panel, it is an entirely inclusive space, as well. Available in the range of standard recycled plastic colors, it can be as subtle or as bright as you want - either way, it will easily and instantly attract kids thanks to its appealing design and features. Capable of holding from 23-27 kids, with a use zone of 30'x31', it is a good solution for a diversity of spaces or needs. With the lengthy warranties on the parts and components (15 years on most pieces and a lifetime warranty on the recycled posts), it is going to put in many years of service and provide countless kids with great fun.
