With a central tower, featuring a large shade roof, the Petka Trail is a playground meant to provide kids ages 2-12 with a lot of fun and creative places to play and socialize. The features of this recycled playground include a disk climber, triple rail slide, chain link climber, inclined rockwall, and several panels that include a tic-tac-toe game, driving panel, and even the fun and innovative café panel too. Beneath the tower area is also a cozy bench where kids can easily find a quiet spot for themselves or the ideal place to play games with friends. With an ADA transfer station and with its durable materials and construction, this playground has been designed to endure. Many of the components and materials have 15-year warranties, and the recycled posts come with a lifetime warranty. With a use zone of 34'x32' and with room for 26-30 kids, this is a perfect choice for almost any setting where kids want to play and socialize.
