One look at the Simon Says playground and you'll know that what Simon is commanding kids to do is to have fun. After all, with four different kinds of slides (including two veer slides), two towers with shingled roofs, a tri-rung overhead ladder, bubble panel, bedrock climber, suspension bridge, rockwall climber, and a host of panels meant for active play, it does offer a tremendous amount of fun. This recycled playground even has a fireman's pole and a café play area! Meant for kids aged 5-12, it features an ADA transfer station and DTD steps to ensure it is inclusive, and it has a lot of space below for socializing and all kinds of make believe scenarios. Crafted from durable materials, the use zone of 41'x46' makes this recycled playground capable of hosting from 50-54 kids at one time. The sturdy materials feature extensive warranties (most up to 15 years) and the recycled posts offer a full lifetime warranty.
