If you use any size of the Angeles Sound Sponge Quiet Dividers then you know that each divider comes with two support feet. But sometimes you just need a little extra support, especially when children are around. Look no farther than the Angeles Quiet Divider Plastic Support Feet (set of 2) to assist you in keeping your dividers in place. These extra support feet are beneficial as children may be running around during playtime and could run into the dividers. The extra support feet will help keep the divider from falling over which could potentially cause injury. The Angeles Quiet Divider Plastic Support Feet (set of 2) are polycarbonate coated black for a clean finish. The extra support feet are also beneficial if you are looking to create a unique workspace with multiple dividers. The extra support can help you design the configuration that works best for your classroom or learning space.
