Add another stretch and exercise station to your outdoor fitness area with the Double Pommel Horse. Shaped just like the classic gymnastics equipment, the Double Pommel Horse is a great place to do stretches or angled push-ups. The low seat makes it a good height to do dips and squats as well as leg stretches. Its size allows the stretcher to lean in for a deep stretch which can be one of the most difficult things to do without the help of equipment. Stretching is one of the most important steps before exercising as it prevents serious injuries. The Double Pommel Horse is an easy way to encourage fitness patrons to take a moment to warm-up before going into a full workout. Order it in any two colors from our custom colors to match new or existing equipment to create a cohesive look throughout your workout area.
