The Triple Royal Pendulum Swing combines fun and exercise into one distinct unit. Its low impact workout strengthens and tones the core and hip muscles, specifically the abdominal muscles and obliques. These benefits can be shared with two other people. Allowing more people to workout together increases motivation, exertion, and fun. The Royal Pendulum Swing accommodates two users at once and the Single Wide Pendulum Swing is a solo experience. This unit is built with powder-coat painted steel and rotationally-molded plastic. The standing platform is perforated to prevent water build up and increase grip. At the center of the equipment is an instructional guide that details the correct way to use the unit. This eliminates any confusion and makes exercise the primary focus. A new and improved you awaits.
