The Triple Royal Chest Press is a majestic choice to add to your outdoor fitness area. It is designed to be used by up to three people at one time. If three users working out is too crowded, take a look at our Royal Chest Press which is designed for only two to use. Using this unit strengthens the upper body, specifically the muscles in the chest and arms. This piece of fitness equipment also works to increase the development of core muscles which is great for your overall health. Like all pieces of fitness equipment in the Royal series, the instructions come printed onto the unit itself. This convenient addition makes the equipment more approachable for new users or serves as a reminder on proper form for those that routinely exercise. The Triple Royal Chest Press is made of robust steel that is essential for outdoor placement. It is painted with a color customizable powder-coat that has the added benefit of preventing rusting. Patrons will get to break a sweat on this excellent piece of equipment.
