Keep your upper body at its peak with the Triple Royal Lat Pull Down. This unit offers an intense workout that improves the biceps, rhomboids, trapezius, and latissimus dorsi at the same time. All of these muscles are integral to an individual's overall health. If finding the motivation to exercise is your pitfall, no need to worry, this equipment can accommodate up to three users at once. Individuals can bring along their moral support for a group workout session. If three is too many, the Royal Lat Pull Down offers only two seats. To avoid any confusion, the instructional guide is printed directly onto the equipment. The Triple Royal Lat Pull Down is held together with powder-coat painted steel and rotationally molded plastic. These materials prevent rust, withstand bad weather, and will remain strong after harsh daily use.
