The Three Panel Craggy Summit Climber boasts a number of exciting features not offered by most climbers of this type. The most prominent of these is the slide, which offers a thrilling yet safe way back to the ground for any children who scale the Ring Ladder or one of the more challenging climbing walls. The slide has a platform sheltered by a visually appealing archway where a child can sit while they wait for the slide and the area around it to be clear. The entire structure has a molded rock pattern which resembles the wall of a crumbling fortress or castle. Kids will enjoy pretending to be its defenders, creating the rest of the kingdom that goes with it, as they have countless imaginary adventures. With three completely distinct sections of molded plastic climbing walls and three types of climbing bars, the Three Panel Craggy Summit Climber has no shortage of ways for children to climb, play, and have a great time. Works great as an addition to any playground, or as its own stand-alone structure.
