The natural environment is incorporated into the play experience with the Eight Panel Crest Craggy Climber. Taking inspiration from nature herself, the Eight Panel Craggy Crest Climber uses the look of rocks to create a climbing structure full of possibilities. One of its biggest advantages is that we are only taking inspiration from nature which eliminates the spontaneity and risk often associated with natural play areas. The structure is a mix of the beautiful cliff faces that stay rather short. Each face is dotted with climbing grips to help build hand strength in addition to making it easier for learning children to hold on. Regularly spaced between each climbing wall rests a variety of metal climbers that require even less dexterity and finger strength to hold onto, allowing the talented children to still be integrated among those that might be less climbing inclined. The Eight Panel Craggy Crest Climber comes in any of our custom colors with a large selection of hand grip colors to choose between, allowing for a truly one of a kind structure.
