The Freestanding Straight Standard Horizontal Ladder is an iconic playground staple that we all know and love. This particular unit has some subtle features which make it ideal for school aged kids in a variety of shapes and sizes. First is that the small distance between the overhead bars, which allows children with shorter arms to reach every rung while longer-armed kids can skip rungs if they feel up to it. This climber also has small ladders and handrails to help smaller kids to reach the bars, without making the whole structure so short that the taller kids' legs drag on the ground. Our take on this timeless classic is an instantly familiar piece of equipment to children and is optimized to be accessible for most kids. This is one playground classic that will never go out of style, which is complimented by this unit's highly durable steel design that has a rust resistant coating of colorful powder coat paint.
