This Freestanding Mountain Climber Bridge will make children feel like they're climbing Mount Everest without ever leaving their own playground. The durable structure is built to offer plenty of support for children wanting to ascend to the highest heights. From a bottom rung of steps to supports for the arms, the bridge makes it possible for children to use it easily and the different heights ensure children of all ages can use it. The steps in the middle make sure that a child will have somewhere to go if they get tired after reaching the top. This unique piece will be a great addition to any playground and can be color customized in a variety of different shades. The Freestanding Mountain Climber Bridge keeps climbing safe with its powder-coat painted steel posts, steps and rungs. This can hold numerous children, resist weather and prevent rusting. Parents will relax a bit when their kids play on this awesome unit.
