The Bramble Grove Play System condenses a massive range of features into one compact structure. It has a small Straight Slide, as well as a much larger Spiral Slide for kids seeking a little more adventure. The spiraling shape of the large slide saves space and also adds to the fun, despite preventing its users from building up a dangerous amount of speed. The structure can be climbed with either the transfer station stairs or the slightly more demanding Snake Climber. There is also three activity panels, and attachments such as a Single Drum and Rain Wheel, for children who want to take a quick break from running around to enjoy a low-energy activity. In other words, the Bramble Grove Play System has something to offer every kid, no matter how they want to play. It is manufactured using durable rotational molded plastic for the slides and activity panels and galvanized steel for the handrails and 3.5-inch support posts, all of which ensures that this play structure can be enjoyed by kids for years to come.
