The Inwood Hills Play System is teeming with fun features that kids will love. There are four built-in ways to climb to the upper platforms of the structure, as well as three slides at two different heights for a quick way back down. This means that foot traffic will flow freely so that energetic kids will never have to stop moving. For those who do want to take it slow, there is a built-in Bench Panel as well as two activity panels on the ground. A clever aspect of this structure is that the smaller or more cautious children can enjoy the lower 48-inch tall platform, which can be accessed by using the stairs or the easy pixel climber. More adventurous kids can reach the 72-inch high platforms by scaling the vertical Snake Climber or Pod Climber, then slide down either one of the matching Wave Slides. The Inwood Hills Play System provides truly unique and engaging play.
