The NatureROCKS Tree Slices Walking Path provides any playground or park with both a fun activity and rustic atmosphere. Kids of all ages will love hopping from one slice to the next to get around. They are best installed between two playground structures to create a path, or alongside other Everlast Climbing structures for even more places to jump. These highly realistic steppers are painted by hand and feature an incredible level of detail. Although they look just like real wood, they are actually made from durable glass fiber reinforced concrete which is made to last for years with no signs of wear or damage. This arrangement contains two small slices (14" in diameter) and two larger slices (18" in diameter) which can be arranged in any order for a little added variance and more of a challenge. They are installed into the ground with concrete to secure your footing and your investment.
