The Free Standing Spelling Panel brings learning right to the playground. It features three rotating wheels which can display a few different letters. The first and third wheels have consonants, while the middle wheel has vowels. The panel has 21 possible words printed on it, which children will be able to copy. These words are merely suggestions, and represent just a few of the possibilities. Countless other words can be spelled, and kids will endlessly continue to find more and more as they play (don't worry – we made sure there aren't any bad ones!). The Free Standing Spelling Panel is a great educational tool because it doesn't force children to practice schoolwork, but makes it available to them in a way that unobtrusively blends in with their play time. The structure uses long-lasting materials, and a simple design which can be installed anywhere without requiring a safe use zone.
