The X Pyramid Net Climber 2 is a larger version of the X Pyramid Net Climber 1, with an additional 67 inches of height at its central galvanized steel post. There are four triangular nets extending outwards from it to form the 'X' shape. The netting has square holes which are an ideal size for children to use as hand grips and foot holds. Kids can climb on either side of the nets and even move from one net to another, giving them plenty of space to climb around without interruptions. There are also large enough spaces at the bottom of the nets that children can easily slip under them to reach the other side. The ropes which make up the nets are woven from durable synthetic fibers which are capable of withstanding outdoor conditions year-round without requiring maintenance.
