MyTCoat's Expanded Metal Park Bench with Back is a commercial-grade outdoor bench that is well suited well for many situations. Benches can be crucial for the successful implementation of special events as well as maintaining the happiness of regular visitors to a recreation area like a park or town square. It has a durable design with a sturdy steel frame atop a wide-footed base, which makes it more than capable of withstanding stresses caused by years of regular use. This frame can be secured with an in-ground mount that cements it in place, a surface mount that anchors it to hard surfaces like concrete or ordered as a portable model. The metal of the bench is covered in a durable thermoplastic coating, which keeps it safe from water damage and excessive cold and permits you to keep the Expanded Metal Park Bench with Back outside all year long.
