What Is Gaga Ball?

Gaga ball (sometimes called octoball) is an evolution of dodgeball that's played in an octagonal pit. Players hit the ball toward one another with their hands, and if a player gets hit below the knees, they're out! Playing gaga ball is safe, all-inclusive, and a great source of exercise, and our gaga ball pit can help you bring this fun game to your schoolyard or gym class.

What Is a Gaga Pit?

A gaga pit is an octagonal structure that makes this game possible. The alternative name "octoball" comes from the shape of the pit, which is octagonal. Within the walls of the gaga pit, the game ball stays contained. Gaga ball pit dimensions can vary, but our gaga ball pits are built with 10-foot-long sides, giving them a diameter of around 22 feet, a great size to accommodate a whole elementary-school class.
