The MyTCoat Ribbed Steel Rolled Edge Bench without Back is a convenient bench that is perfect for any location which could use outdoor seating. It has a compact design with no back, which makes it less obtrusive and much easier to place anywhere. This also makes it easier for guests to sit on either side of it, or step over it when needed. The seat of the bench is made from high-quality steel which is woven into an interesting pattern and curved underneath the bench to give it a rounded appearance. This, along with the two cylindrical legs that support it, gives the bench a jovial appearance with almost no sharp edges. The bench can be coated in a plethora of colors, making it a highly appealing bench that can fit in with the design of nearly any environment. Contact a sales representative for more information.
