

MyTCoat Honeycomb Steel Sloped Bench

MSRP $1,160.00

SALE $986.00

Highlights:

- Arms on either end of the bench
- Works well for outdoor or indoor settings
- Gently contoured bench for a comfortable seat
- Distinct aesthetic that combines classic lines with modern styling

The Honeycomb Steel Sloped Bench has a sleek and unified design with rounded features that give it a sleek, flowing appearance. The seat and back of this bench are made from a single sheet of steel, rather than being separate and independent pieces, making the bench look more whole. This sheet of steel is curved to provide more comfortable support for the user's entire back and has a pattern of circular holes cut into it to help it stay dry and give it a friendly and unique appearance. The edges of the back and seat are rolled into nice rounded accents which add to the bench's charming look. The entire bench seat is coated in a layer of durable thermoplastic which keeps the metal safe from rust, corrosion, and physical damage, while also preventing it from getting too hot during the summer or too cold during the winter.