- Slight separation between the back and the seat for extra comfort

Benches are an important addition to public spaces as they allow people to gather, converse, and even just rest after a day of activity. The MyTCoat Honeycomb Steel Bench with Square Posts fulfills all of those functions as a long, comfortable seating option that can be placed along trails, in sports fields, or at a playground. The thick galvanized steel seat and back are strongly supported by a pair of thick pedestal posts that can be in-ground or surface mounted. Off of the post is a smaller rounded post to support the seat itself. Modern-style benches, like this one, can be placed on park trails, subways, bus stops, parks, shopping centers, and just about any outdoor space. Like all MyTCoat products, this comes in both Industry Standard or Advantage coatings that you know will protect your purchase for years to come due to its rain and sun resistance.
