While it is a great idea to fill your outdoor space with comfortable and durable seating, guests will appreciate the extra appeal of benches with fun and creative designs, which is exactly where the Expanded Metal Pipe Frame Bench with Back excels. This bench has a bright and playful design that everyone, especially youngsters, will enjoy. The defining feature of this bench is its unique framework, which is made up of wildly curving metal pipes. These pipes loop up from the ground to form the rounded legs and armrests of the bench. They also hold up the seat of the bench, whose comfortable back is especially pleasant to lean against. The seating is made of durable steel shaped into an attractive diamond-shaped pattern. The edges of the outdoors furniture item curve into rounded shapes, eliminating the abrasive edges that add to discomfort in more harshly angled designs.
