SALE $1,210.00

Highlights:

- Made from sturdy 1/2-inch steel
- Cast Iron frame is powder coated
- Portable, with holes in the feet that allow it to be mounted
- Bench arms on either side provide extra comfort

The Honeycomb Steel Keystone Bench by MyTCoat offers passersby a supremely comfortable and elegant seating option. Part of what makes this setup stand out is the pair of armrests that have a gently curving shape. This makes a perfect match with the bench's bowed legs, which have a curving bar running between them that provides additional fortification as well as a stylish accent. One of the most useful features of this bench is its multiple mounting options. The bench is portable and can be moved, allowing you to place the bench wherever you need it. If you would like to firmly position it in place, the feet of the bench can be bolted directly to hard surfaces such as concrete for an installation that will stay in place permanently. Adding further customizable appeal, you can choose between the Industry Standard and Advantage coating, while also choosing your preferred color. Talk to a sales representative for more details.
