A picnic table is a place where people gather together to eat, converse, and share. The MyTCoat Honeycomb Steel Single Post Picnic Table offers the maximum amount of space for that with its single pedestal design. The entirety of the table is supported by the 4-inch galvanized steel post with 3-inch posts connecting the benches to it. This means people can get in and out simply without running into the legs that could impede their movement on a typical outdoor table. A busy college campus could have eight students happily sitting at the table studying and eating with their bags under the seats without feeling cramped or uncomfortable as they converse with their colleagues. No matter where the table is placed, you can rest assured that this commercial-grade furniture will last because of the hearty finishes that make MyTCoat tables resistant to weather.
