A picnic is a symbol of togetherness, which is why MyTCoat's Expanded Metal Portable Frame Square Table has a square design. Other, typical picnic tables feature a rectangular shape that creates a large amount of space between people. This table's square shape allows up to eight people to sit comfortably and together rather than being spread out along a longer distance. This makes it great for picnics, games, homework, and many other communal activities. The square design also creates more individual space. No one is ever stuck in the middle of the table again with exit points available for everyone at all times. This table will quickly grow to be an important part of your outdoor venue. The table frame is powder coat painted and the seats and tabletop are all thermoplastic coated in either Industry Standard or Advantage coating to help it last for many years to come.
