The Expanded Metal Square Patio Table is a versatile table that can be used in a variety of different settings, including poolside or on a backyard deck. As a poolside accessory, people can rest drinks or personal items. The expanded metal material makes it resistant to water in anticipation of any splashes that may make its way to it. The table can also be used on restaurant decks as an outdoor seating option as this table can comfortably seat four people and their plates. It also includes an umbrella port that allows shading for sunny days. This patio table does not come with chairs which allows it to be more easily moved in addition to its already portable nature. The patio comes in Industry Standard coating that extends the longevity of the color and the table overall due to its resistance to water and other weather elements.
