Avoid disputes between golfers on the range with the MyTCoat Driving Range Golf Barrier. These barriers are the perfect way to keep relationships out of the rough. They separate the different areas of your driving range so that golfers know where to stand and don't get in the way of each other's swings. The barriers are tall enough to block swings but not conversation, making it easy for people to socialize as they play. For additional convenience, choose the Bag Holder option to make sure clubs are secured in place and easy to access. The barriers are made from durable flattened steel rather than chain link with MyTCoat's famous Industrial Standard coating that will keep the barrier looking good and withstanding rust for years. With lots of color options to choose from, you can go with a color that fits your fun, functional, or upscale aesthetic.
