The Post Office Playhouse is a great way to stimulate the imagination of young citizens. With quick assembly and sturdy materials, this mock post office is a great venue for kids to imitate the grown-up experience of standing in line to get a stamp. With bright colors and an accessible visual display, kids can pretend they work in a post office, or use the structure for another purpose. Standing at 4 feet high, 4 feet wide, and 5 feet 3 inches deep, the whole structure totals 140 pounds, making for simple assembly and deconstruction if necessary. The post office playhouse fits in perfectly with any playground, park, or family event. It also comes with a shelf for storing boxes, to create an authentic post office atmosphere.
