For the young animal lovers out there, there's a new playhouse just for them. The Animal Hospital Playhouse brings just enough structure to awaken a child's imagination, with a decorative storefront, triangular roof, and a multipurpose shelf. Kids will have a blast pretending to be veterinarians, performing rescue surgery on stuffed animals and imaginary patients. Constructed with sturdy materials, this structure measures to a 4 by 4 foot square and spans just over 5 feet tall, making for a comfortable fit for any toddler and most children. It also sports custom-engraved imagery of animal and medicine, so even kids too young to read can understand the playhouse design.
