The MyTCoat Expanded Metal Portable Frame Octagon Table with Rolled Edge Seats is an excellent outdoor picnic table with many benefits. Its octagonal shape has almost as much surface area as MyTCoat's square picnic tables but with enhanced safety shaping. By having rounded-off corners instead of four right angles, the table's construction helps prevent unexpected injury in case someone were to accidentally run into that part of the furniture. This curved shaping approach also extends to the rolled edges of the seats, which are more comfortable to rest legs against for long periods of time. The table comes in a variety of seat configurations, including ADA Accessible two and three-seat versions. The attached benches save you the trouble of having to move multiple separate furniture pieces during relocating. This useful table is also designed to be durable. The frame is powder coat painted while the seats and top are available in either Industry Standard or MyTCoat's signature Advantage thermoplastic coatings. This table comes standard as a portable unit but surface mounting can be purchased separately. Please speak to a AAA State of Play salesperson for more information.
