Curling edges are a simple addition that adds volumes of comfort to a seat. The MyTCoat Expanded Metal Single Post Octagon Table with Rolled Edge Seats does just that. The rolled seat edges take a slow angle around creating a nice look as well as optimizing comfort. The seats and tabletop are both constructed from expanded steel and then covered in a thermoplastic coating. The thermoplastic coating, Industry Standard or Advantage, adds additional layers of protection to your investment. The pedestals that create the interesting visual effect of seats floating through the air are powder coat painted to keep corrosion and water out. The tabletop has a few noteworthy features of its own. The octagon shape provides additional space and reassurance to safety worried parents. Furthermore, the center has a space designed for holding an umbrella. The visual impact and eight-person capacity at each table is a win in anyone's book.
