Highlights:

- Mounted in-ground for stability
- Hole punched steel to allow for water drainage
- Two adorable dog bone decorations at the apex of the unit
- Dog-bone decorated bars across the ramp give dogs extra grip

The Puppy Climbing Wall is a great agility obstacle for novices and experts alike. Dogs can quickly learn to walk up one side of the ramp and down the other. With practice, they can be taught to do it quickly and on command. An essential component of most competitive dog courses, your patrons will appreciate the chance to practice. The ramp has a friendly and inviting design, full of decorative dog bones. It has bars with dog bone shapes on the ends running across the entirety of the unit. These ridges will help dogs keep their traction to prevent slipping on the way up or tumbling on the way down. It is even coated with a pet-friendly coating that is gentle on sensitive paws. The structure is mounted in-ground to provide a stable foundation. Pair this with other dog park equipment to create a fun and exciting area for your canine friends.
